Mid-Level Interactive Developer | Boston or New York

The Position

Neoscape is currently looking to add a new member to our award-winning interactive development team. Please note that this is an on-site position and not remote eligible. The primary focus of this position will be to work with team leads, the interactive director, and the whole Neoscape team to develop websites and other related projects for a wide range of uses and clients around the globe. Typical work includes the creation of new projects using both front-end and back-end web technologies for online and offline use, as well as occasional updates to existing projects. Successful applicants should be detail oriented, able to work on multiple projects simultaneously, able to work as part of a team and on their own with limited guidance, have a good grasp of full-stack web development and technologies, as well as be able to step into another's shoes to quickly troubleshoot / repair existing projects. Good communication skills are critical for this position to ensure a quality look and feel for all our interactive applications, and to devise future innovative solutions that reflect Neoscape's pioneering brand identity.
